

That's not my...

Practice the physical and linguistic strands of the Oracy Framework by bringing to life your very own version of the well-known That's Not My... stories.

Activity

Follow the instructions on the right to create your own That's Not My... story. Once you have made your stencil, take it with you on a walk outside or around your house. Place it on as many different surfaces as you can, using interesting adjectives to describe your character's cut-out feature e.g. "That's not my snail, it's shell is too prickly"

Don't forget to think about the Oracy Framework!

What tone of voice will you use to read your "That's not my..." phrase?
Make sure you speak loudly and clearly!

What words will you use to describe your stencil's cut-out feature?
How will you use your physical oracy to emphasise your chosen adjective?

How to make your stencil

You'll need:

- A piece of card
- A felt tip pen
- A pair of scissors
- An adult to help

2. With an adult's help, cut out a key feature

3. Place your stencil on different surfaces and choose adjectives to describe the cut-out feature e.g. That's not my butterfly, it's wings are too leafy
